

The Pleasant Point Picnic.

(To the Editor of the Interior Journal.)
In response to a cordial invitation a large delegation from Stanford attended the Sunday-school picnic at Pleasant Point Church, near Kingsville, on July 4th, and they were well repaid for their long, dusty ride. It was held in the beautiful grove in front of the church. About 800 people were present, and notwithstanding the large crowd there was not a single mishap to mar the day's pleasures. A stand was erected in the grove and around it a sufficient number of benches to comfortably seat the whole crowd. The church organ was on the stand and as pretty a collection of young ladies as one could wish to see, whose beauty was at least equalled by their splendid singing. After a prayer the exercises were opened by an address from Mr. H. P. Young, one of the oldest citizens of that section, who has always taken deep interest in church matters. Mr. Young spoke in a forcible manner of the causes that led to the Declaration of Independence and of the blessings that have followed.

After his address there were recitations by the little boys and girls and also by the young ladies, alternating with music by the choir. It was the universal opinion of all present that they had never seen young people deport themselves better on such occasions. They were perfectly free and easy, graceful in their delivery, and enunciated so well that they could be heard by all present. It is regretted that their names cannot be given, for each and every one deserves to "see his name in print," but I failed to get a copy of the programme.

Rev. J. M. Cook next delivered an address on Sunday-Schools, which showed that he has given the question deep study. He is a zealous Christian and has accomplished and is yet accomplishing great good.

At the conclusion of his remarks an adjournment was taken for dinner, to which the greatest compliment that can be paid it is that it was a genuine Kentucky feast, dispensed with Kentucky hospitality. There was at least twice as much as the crowd could eat and it was the best the land affords. At this juncture there were several narrow escapes from mishaps, for the good people grabbed every stranger present and almost pulled them in pieces, each trying to take them to his dinner stand.

After dinner an address of about 20 minutes was made by Mr. W. H. Miller, of Stanford, who was followed in turn by J. B. Paxton, W. F. McClary, Elder J. Q. Montgomery and Judge Thomas W. Varnon, the latter making the happiest effort of his life. After this Rev. Martin A. Middleton, who presided with ease, grace and dignity, made a short address, in which he thanked the audience for the attention given. He said that it was a happy coincidence that the meeting should be opened by Mr. Young, one of the oldest citizens of that section, as well as one of its greatest benefactors, and closed by Judge Varnon, one of the old citizens of the county and who had always been identified with its welfare.

The young gentlemen on the committee of arrangements deserve thanks for the manner in which they performed their duties and the young ladies of the choir have the sincere thanks of all the assembly for the sweet music furnished. Miss Johnson, the organist, is a musician of rare skill.

Congressional Convention.

The Congressional Committee for this district, which met in Lawrenceburg last week, passed the following:

Resolved, That a convention of the democrats for the 8th Congressional district of Kentucky be held at Lawrenceburg on the 7th day of August, 1890, to nominate a democratic candidate for Congress in said district.

2d, That in said convention each county shall be entitled to one vote for each 100 and fraction of 100 exceeding 50 democratic votes cast for the Cleveland and Thurman electors at the November election in 1888.

3d, That, in order to select delegates to said convention, the democrats of each county are requested to meet at their respective county seats at 2 o'clock p. m., on Wednesday, July 31, and then and there select said delegates to said convention.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—Col. Slaughter's picnic was well attended by the pleasure-loving of this vicinity.

—A night office has been opened here, and now night mails are put off and taken on by Nos. 25 and 26, which sets us on even footing with the other "big" towns along the K. D.

—Mr. W. R. Dillon and family have returned from a month's sojourn among the picturesque hills of Rockcastle river, where in addition to fresh air and fine scenery, they enjoyed the sweetest of recreation—boating and fishing.

—A party of 4th of July patriots sallied down from Hazel Patch to "take in" Col. Slaughter's picnic, but arriving here too late to make the trip, they filled their holiday skins with frothy enthusiasm and went reeling back on the next train to their mountain lodges and by this time are, we suppose, sadder, but soberer and wiser men.

—Miss Sue Buchanan will be the fair preceptress of Walnut Flat school again this year; W. J. Edmiston gets the school at Watts' Chappell; Mrs. Bettie Buchanan the one near the depot, known as the Holmes school; Miss Mollie Warren will preside in the Adams district; J. A. Chappell will wield the birch in the Otterbein locality; R. Lee Davis will straddle the pedagogical stool at Ephesus and Miss Lillie Pettus will instruct the young idea at Preachersville. Most of these will open their doors, square their chins and go to pegging away about next Monday.

—That clever and courteous gentleman, Prof. W. F. McClary, who has done as much for common schools as any man in Lincoln, was in town this week talking up his candidacy for school superintendent. Born on Copper Creek, a neighborhood adjacent to this, and coming here to sell eggs when a boy, bareback, bare-footed and we almost said bare-headed, he is as dear to the Crab Orchard people as the "Mill boy of the Slashes" to the folks of old Hanover county, Va., and will, we are certain, get most of the democratic votes in this end, if not some republican ones.

—Through the instrumentality of Mr. John Edmiston and Crab Orchard Lodge No. 108 of the I. O. O. F., a handsome memorial tablet was erected this week over the grave of Past Grand Master Judge J. D. Pollard, who died here about 14 years ago. Judge Pollard came from Frankfort and for several years was closely identified with the social and political affairs of town. His warm-hearted, high-souled, gentlemanly bearing won him many friends and he was at one time police judge. After his death his family moved away and at present it is not known where they reside. The memorial is a handsome tribute to a good man by his fellow townsmen and "comrades of the mystic tie."

—Frank Dillon, who gained some notoriety several years ago by being the youngest telegraph operator in the country, is here from Chicago visiting his father's family. Frank is one of the experts now and holds a good position in the Garden City. Samuel Dwight Hardin, the best clerk that ever handled a yard stick or a sugar scoop, is clerking for the summer at Chadwick & Edmiston's. Mr. T. R. Walton, of Stanford, was in town Thursday. Master Joe Newland has been spending a couple of weeks with school-boy chums at Pittsburg. Messrs. J. H. Hutchings and J. Will James arrived from Florida in time to see the glorious 4th celebrated in Kentucky style. Mr. Hackney, of Williamsburg, has taken W. H. Pettus' place as operator in Mrs. Newland's office. Messrs. James Miller and Sam Magee glorified the 4th by going to Stanford and seeing the I. J.'s and the Louisvilles lick each other.

—The urgent solicitations which have been pouring in upon him have induced Squire J. A. Chappell to become a candidate for re-election, along with several others, for magistrate in this precinct, and he has formally announced himself. While the squire may have higher aspirations both politically and pecuniarily, he is not the man to sit Sphinx-like, indifferent to the call of his constituency, when he sees that it needs his help. That he has not, in the four years of his incumbency, made a model magistrate, no one will have the gall to say; and his antagonists, shrewd and character-searching as they are, can trumpet no charge or accusation to sully his clean record, unless they unscrupulously distort facts. It was he who pulled down the large pauper bill which for years honest workmen had been paying to encourage idleness and mendacity. The affirmation which every road overseer must make to road claims before they can be allowed was due to his honesty and sagacity. The new turnpike system, which may be said to be only in its inception, and which promises to give Lincoln county as fine a network of highways as any of her wealthy neighbors, has first, last and all the time received the cordial support of Squire Chappell. His pluck, energy, sagacity and readiness to give his tongue utterance on every occasion when it was needed has demonstrated that he is a substantial pillar under the right corner of the county edifice; and his re-election, if we may credit democratic sentiment in this precinct, is an assured fact.

TESTIMONIAL TO FRANCE

The Plan Endorsed by the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

The Detroit (Mich.) Journal some time ago suggested the presentation of a testimonial to the French Republic in acknowledgment of the services rendered by Lafayette and other French soldiers and statesmen when the colonies were sorely in need of help in their struggle against British tyranny and invasion. The suggestion was favorably received and the Journal began to solicit 81 subscriptions from the patriotic citizens of this country to carry out its plan. Responses were received from President Harrison, the Governors of several States and eminent editors who have since agreed to promote the movement.

A tribute of the kind suggested by the Detroit Journal is especially grateful and appropriate at the present time. The aspirations and ambitions which Lafayette felt and experienced for his own country, as well as this, have since been realized over there as well as here.

The success which he helped win on this continent led to the revolution in France. Through storm and terror, and strife after many fluctuations in the form of government, from republic to empire, from republic to monarchy, through the round of empire and revolution, another republic has risen in France, soldier, farmer, juster and more powerful than any that ever got foothold there before.

This newest-born of the French republic has lived many times longer than its elder sisters. It has never been as strong, so firmly established, as it is today. A tribute from the Republic of the United States to the Republic of France would have a fraternal significance and an added honor of cordial and harmonious sympathy between the two never possible before. The unity of spirit and the symmetry of institutions will bestow upon the gift something more than the mere formality of empty compliment.

The list of contributors and co-operators in the project includes many a name of those in high honor at the present day, as well as of those whose sires were held in high honor during and after the great struggle that with the aid of France secured the independence of the Nation.

The work is in the hands of a large committee, representing every section of the country and each political party. Money and suggestions for the best form of a testimonial should be sent to the chairman of the committee, Dr. William Seward Webb, of New York City, or to W. H. Brockley, of the Detroit Journal.

LIBERTY, CASEY COUNTY.

—The most enjoyable event of the day was the grand picnic excursion fishing party, which met at this place July 4th. While Danville, Turnersville, McKinney and Mt. Salem were represented, Middleburg and Yosemite sent a large delegation. The excursionists collected at Green River church, near Yosemite, and proceeded to the ford on the Middleburg pike, one mile from this place, where they organized by electing H. H. McAninch chairman and E. Tarrant secretary. Willis Coulter, Wm. Lucas and James T. Coulter were elected chiefs of the culinary department, and John W. Wilcher, captain of the fishermen. Chairman McAninch then delivered an eloquent, able and patriotic address, commemorating the day we celebrate, and while he wanted them all to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent he urged temperance and hoped nothing would be done to soil the reputation of their respective communities. Captain Wilcher then took charge of his company and kept them on duty, while the rest of the party formed in regular order and made a grand parade through the principal streets and public square around the magnificent court-house and from thence to the cool shade around Whipp's pure, gushing spring. There was an assemblage of all ages and conditions, from the wee tottler to the silvery haired; there were golden hair, raven locks and red heads; there were black eyes and blue; there were blonde and brunette complexions; and even Stanley's sunny land, the "Dark Continent" was well represented and welcomed. At noon a bounteous repast of everything good to eat, including about a hundred pounds of fish caught, which were cooked on the grounds, was placed on spotless table cloths and everybody invited to partake. The crowd was variously estimated from 200 to 300 present. It was a most enjoyable affair, nothing happening of a discordant nature. While the best of order prevailed, Wellington's uproarious wild Irish brigade would have been thrown in the shade, as far as noise is concerned, if they had been present when the fishermen succeeded every once in a while in catching a very large fish. It has been a day to be long remembered.

ONE of the best speeches from a constitutional standpoint against the infamous election bill, that was made in Congress, was delivered by Gov. McCreary. Of course it had no effect on the conspirators, who had determined in advance to enact the scheme to rob the South of her rights, but they listened to it with respectful attention and even permitted the governor to continue his remarks after the Speaker had called "time" on him. Among the reasons urged by Gov. McCreary against the abhorrent measure was that it allows the board of canvassers, not the people, to select the members of the House of Representatives, as provided by the 1st article of the Constitution; it mingles the State and Federal power in the control and management of the popular elections that confusion and collision of authority are sure to occur; it connects Federal courts with political schemes, and authorizes Federal judges to dominate and control the legislative department of the government, when the framers of the Constitution intended that the three great co-ordinate departments should always be independent of each other; it is not needed for the regulation of Congressional elections, no State having neglected or refused to prescribe the time, place and manner of holding elections for Representatives; it will require an expense of millions of dollars annually, authorizes the appointment of nearly 200,000 new salaried officers and will bring ballots and bayonets, soldiers and supervisors, so close together at the polls that there will be no free and fair elections. And finally," said the governor, "it should be despised and defeated because it is un-democratic, un-republican and unconstitutional."

UNDER the law five new stars were added to the American flag on the 4th of July, making the number 43. The five new States are North and South Dakota, Idaho, Montana and Washington. Owing to a slight difference between the House and the Senate, the rotten borough of Wyoming, which adopted its constitution by a total vote of about 8,000, with women exercising the right of suffrage, has to wait another year before she can be represented on the flag. Unfortunately, however, she will be represented long before that time by two republican senators and a republican congressman, though the entire vote of the territory is not more than a congressional district.

FROM a cool retreat in the Tennessee Mountains, Mr. Waterson fired four columns of red-hot matter at the Courier-Journal on the 4th. He takes Reed and his Force bill for a text and handles him and it as only a gifted writer can. The object and the baleful results of the detestable scheme to rob the people of their home rule and the States of their rightful jurisdiction, and to convert our electoral system into a machine, which a few men by a few appliances can work from their lair in the National Capital, are portrayed with a master hand and in a manner which will have its effect on the country.

THE Republican State Central Committee, which met at Danville Thursday night, formally endorsed the candidacy of Judge J. H. Tinsley for appellate clerk and adjourned. The appointment of John Barrett, a mugwump, to be postmaster at Louisville over Mr. Riley, the secretary of the committee, who was endorsed by the committee and most of the prominent republicans of the State, cast a damper over the enthusiasm of the members and the meeting wore the aspect more of a funeral gathering than of a meeting to endorse a candidate who is expected to win.

KENTON county is getting to be a miserable sore on the democratic body politic. Her conventions usually end in a row and contested delegations, but it was reserved for the superior court convention to have six separate and distinct delegations. The Commonwealth says that the outrages that have for years been perpetrated in the name of democracy, has caused the falling off of the democratic vote and will continue to reduce it.

JAMES MARRET had a well-written, five-column report of the Press Association meeting, at Winchester, in the last issue of the Mt. Vernon Signal. He and Fletcher Poynter, of the Shelbyville Sentinel, got away with most of the boys on the completeness and excellence of their accounts of the delightful meeting.

W. R. Ramsey, a capable young lawyer, will probably represent Rockcastle and Laurel in the constitutional convention. The republicans of the former county have endorsed him.

JUDGE TINSLEY is out in a formal acceptance of the nomination for appellate clerk, which he sought at the hands of the republican committee. He very much deprecates the sectional feeling, which would cast aside a union soldier to honor a confederate cripple and inveighs in strongest terms against the keeping up of war issues and memories 25 years after peace has been declared. Right you are, judge, but if you would impress this upon your northern brethren, whose favorite pastime is waving the bloody shirt, you might do more good for your country. Your letter is a very nice little bid for the votes of the "brave and gallant confederates," but it won't work. They are going to vote for Woodford W. Longmoor and elect him by 40,000 majority.

JOHN BOYD, the republican candidate for re-election to the sheriffalty of Christian county, is a man of immaculate gall. He is still running for the office, notwithstanding an investigation has revealed the fact that he is a defaulter to the amount of perhaps $20,000 and is likewise a forger. This is a small matter, however, to the republicans. They will vote for him, just the same.

MRS. HENRY, the prohibition candidate for appellate clerk, is making a tour of the State and speaking in the principal towns. As yet we have seen no notice of her coming here, though of all places she is most needed. Those who have seen Mrs. Henry and heard her speak tell us that she is painfully lacking in beauty and far from gifted in oratory.

ANOTHER Superior Court Convention will begin to wrestle with the question of a democratic nominee at Lexington to-morrow. It is to be hoped that the delegates will show a little more sense than those who figured in the late failure.

Exclusive of government payments on bonds and pensions, the disbursements on account of interest and dividends are estimated at $74,000,000, against $61,000,000 last year, and this enormous outpour of money has allayed all fear of a foreign drain.

—Mr. James P. Spoonamore, brother of the proprietor of Hale's Well, Mr. A. L. Spoonamore, died at his home in Garrard last week, after a protracted illness. He was born in this county and was one of 12 brothers and sisters, eight of whom are still living. His wife was a daughter of the Rev. James Crow and she with six children is left to mourn a terrible loss. Mr. Spoonamore was a member of the Methodist Church and a conscientious, christian man.

—Mrs. Amanda DeHoff, sister of Mr. John A. Allen, of this place, died at Somerset last week of consumption, with which she had been sorely afflicted for over two years. Besides her husband, she leaves three little children to suffer a mother's loss. It was parting with them that gave her concern in the final hour. As to herself she was fully prepared to meet her Maker and anxious and willing to go to Him. Rev. Harvey Glass, of the Presbyterian church, of which congregation she was a member, preached the funeral sermon, after which the remains were interred in the Somerset cemetery.

—Died, July 1st, at her home in Philadelphia, Mo., Mrs. Lucy E., wife of J. R. Terrill, and daughter of Wm. H., and Mary Beazley, of near Lancaster. The deceased was born Jan. 4th, 1851. She had for many years been in delicate health, but in January last the foul monster, la grippe, did its work, leaving her with consumption. She suffered but little pain till near death, then she had an unwavering hand to sustain her.

THEY STAND AMAZED & WATCH US GROW.

The enormous increase of sales in all the departments of Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Hats, Carpets, Matting, &c., makes it absolutely imperative for us to increase the space devoted to every department of our establishment. When we came here our friends had some doubts of

OUR SUCCESS

And our competitors had hopes of our failure. But with "spot cash" for our corner stone, sound business principles for our guide, and with a reputation for fair and honorable dealing, we have built wisely, strongly, and and we thought largely. But the unprecedented business of the past twelve months has even surpassed our own expectations and we are

CRAMPED FOR ROOM.

We have sought the best trade, offering the best goods, and avoiding humbuggery, deception and fraud. Our methods and our low cash prices have inspired confidence and brought us a steady, continuous, increasing stream of prosperity and our competitors have little to do but stand amazed and watch us grow. Now is the time to buy. We are disposing of our Summer Stock at cost and in many instances below cost. Behold these inducements: All our 10c and 12 1-2c Sateens will be sold this week at 8 1-3. All the best American Sateens which were sold at a great bargain at 20c will be sold at 15c. All our French Sateens which were sold at a sacrifice for 25c will be sold at 20c. Call early; at these prices they'll not last long.

Mattingly 41 at $175, of Ben. Simms, of Washington, 40 at $182; of John Peterson, same county, 20 at $165. The prices paid were good, but they were extra sugar mules. James Wathen bought of Sandy Smith and J. B. Graves, 120 hogs three months ago to be delivered the 1st of July at 4 cents. When they were delivered Mr. Wathen offered the parties $300 to let him off, as hogs were only worth from $3.25 to $3.50 in Louisville, but his offer was refused."

MULES KILLED.—Freight train 37, Dan Sexton, engineer, ran down a lot of mules belonging to Thomas McRoberts and Jerry Briscoe, near Givens' Station, killing 15 and badly injuring 8. The appraisers, M. N. Depauw, A. K. Denny and H. M. Johnson, found that the engine might have seen the mules for 600 yards, but it was down grade and he had a very heavy train. A valuation of $1,985 was placed on the animals dead and injured together.

ONE of the Hustonville Base Ball Club, the toughs who played the I. J's, got drunk and misbehaved at the Portman House table, when Mr. W. H. Miller asked him to respect the presence of ladies and let up on his loud and rough talk. This made him madder and Mr. Miller then told him he had to behave. At this he jerked up a chair and Miller drew his knife, but before they could get together Marshal Newland came to the scene and the fellow was hustled off. On the promise of his friends to take him in charge he was not put in jail, though he should have been.

THE Fourth of July moonlight hop at Hales Well was a very brilliant occasion and surpassed, by far, any previous entertainment ever given at that popular, but rather secluded, health and pleasure resort. The beauty and gallantry from town and the surrounding country were there and as the merry dance was enjoyed in the pavilion, built for the purpose, that innocent amusement was sanctioned by older heads that filled the verandas and other available spots, adding dignity to the scene. Salter's orchestra, of three pieces, furnished sufficiently good music, and it was just as the happy young folks were feeling a bit weary that mine host Spoonamore announced supper, which proved an exceedingly tasteful repast. After substantially partaking of the good things the dance was again engaged in and it was past two before the strains of music died away and the sojourners at Hales Well were given a chance to snooze.

LIT OUT.—When the case against Ed Brown and Ed Johnson, charged with robbing one W. M. Bird of several hundred dollars and a watch, was called before Judge Carson, Saturday, that sweet-scented individual failed to show up and the men were discharged. There is a well-grounded belief that the fellow never had that much money at one time in his life and that the whole business was a fake. The men arrested said that if he was robbed at all it was by the woman, Ellen Jones, with whom he was occupying the hay loft and with whom he was very intimate during his stay here. Ed Brown told the court that he intended to whip the woman for having him arrested and if he does there will be no great row raised. The fellow Bird laid around here drunk for several days, consorting with a class that showed what an onery creature he was, and was threatened by the marshal more than once with arrest.

As I may not be in Stanford more than two or three weeks longer, I hope those indebted to me will make special effort to settle up during that time. My lot on Main street is offered for sale on easy terms. Take a look at it. It is considered a bargain. T. R. Walton.

THE mistakes of the average mail clerk exceed many fold those of the late lamented Moses, but it was reserved for one on the Cincinnati Southern to be guilty of the most foolish we ever heard of. He returned one of our papers addressed to Chattanooga Tenn., with "No such office in State named." This fellow ought to quit drawing money from the government, he does not earn and go to school a few years.

THE BUSINESS MANAGER HURT.—Friday night as Messrs. W. B. McKinney, C. C. Carson and E. C. Walton were returning from Hale's Well, their buggy was overturned. Mr. Walton was thrown to the ground and badly cut on the chin and neck, the bone of the former being laid bare for several inches. He was also hurt in the knee and otherwise considerably used up. Dr. Peyton dressed the wounds and the sufferer is doing fairly well, though it will be sometime before he can resume his duties. Mr. Carson was also cut on the chin, but not severely. Mr. McKinney escaped unhurt. The horse and vehicle, strange to say, were but slightly damaged.

WHEN the Hustonville Base Ball team from Louisville took their positions on the ball grounds here on the glorious Fourth, they showed up so well and were such a sun-burnt set of fellows, even the most sanguine backers of the old reliable INTERIOR JOURNAL, began to feel weak in the knees for the home boys and feeling of sympathy rather than of confidence of success went out for them. The visitors were extended the courtesy of choice for town or country and they chose the latter. George Penny was the first to bat and a smile went over the pitcher's face as he took his position to "saw him out." But such was not the case, for the first ball that left his hands was sent to the remote part of left field and a "home run" was made. Joe Embury then came to the bat and made a good base hit and was given second by balls when Shanks secured first. Ed Hann then followed the example of Penny and Embury and gave Embury home and Shanks second. Walton got to first by a right field hit and later on got to second, but McRoberts, Burton and Davison were put out and the visitors then took town. Preece, Wieting and Keenan got in runs and the first inning stood 3 and 3. Embury and Hann got in two runs and the Hustonville made one. The third and fourth innings were a couple of "goose eggs" for our boys, while the visitors got one score in the third and nothing in the fourth. The fifth the I. J's made 1 score and the seventh they made another, giving a total of 7. The Louisville boys made nothing in the fifth, but in the sixth they were more successful and scored four. The seventh and eighth they got naughts and were winners by a score of 9 to 7. In justice to our club we will say that Wilson and Rice, the crack battery, were neither here and the nine was an unusually weak one.

THE afternoon game was called at about 4 o'clock and the lovers of the sport for miles around had gathered to see the final outcome. The ladies, who are as fond of the game as the gentlemen, were also there and they seemed to put a new spirit in the home club for they played ball for all they were worth. The strength of the club had also been augmented by George A. McRoberts, and Alex Hann, of Danville, and the prospects for a winning looked extremely good. The visitors chose the country again and a new pitcher was put in. Alex Hann made a score and the visitors came in and tied with it. The second and third innings resulted in a goose egg and a score for the I. J's, and a couple of the former for the Hustonville. In the fourth Ed Hann, Will Shanks and George McRoberts made runs, putting the score 5 to 1 in our favor. The fifth our boys did nothing while the visitors scored 1 and the sixth gave us 1 and the visitors 2. Renewed energy seemed to come to the "old reliables" in the seventh and E. Hann, George A. McRoberts, Walton, Burton and Geo. McRoberts each made a score. The Hustonville were not asleep when they came to bat and added three scores to their column. Our boys got another score in the eighth and nothing in the ninth. The eighth and ninth gave two "goose eggs" to the visitors and the game at the finish stood 12 to 7. The battery for the I. J's in the forenoon game was Hann and Embury and Penny and Hann and for the afternoon the Hann brothers, Alex and Ed did the work superbly. Both games were good ones and our boys did themselves proud. We still claim for our namesakes the championship of this section and are willing to pit them against any club in these parts.

MRS. MARY B. PATTEN, of school district 49, comes back at her accusers in lively style and her communication will appear in next issue.

THE Nashville American publishes an interview with Vice-President Edwards, of the Decatur, Chesapeake & New Orleans, which is backed by the E. T. V. & G., that gives some consolation to those who wish to see the Cumberland road built. He says his road is striking for this point and if Nashville will do her part it will be built at no distant day.

THE saloon keepers decided that discretion was the better part of valor and paid the $30 fine demanded by City Attorney Varnon, in preference to going into a trial of the cases against them for keeping open Sundays. In justice to Mr. Burnside it is stated that his bar was opened against his orders, and that he was willing from the start to pay any reasonable fine.

THE store-house of Isaac Hamilton, at Rowland, was entered on the night of the 3d by some one who made his way up through the floor. Strange as it may appear there is nothing missing, though it is not likely the rascal went to all that trouble for nothing. Mr. Hamilton says he will see that the next man, who makes that kind of a call on him, meets with a warm reception.

IT is rumored that Hon. Ezra S. Gooch will be the prohibition candidate for county judge. We do not believe it. Mr. Gooch is certainly too honorable a man to thus fly in the face of the party, which honored him a few years ago by making him our representative in the legislature, and nothing short of his own assertion that he will be a candidate will convince us that he would be guilty of such ingratitude, to use no stronger term.

THE INTERIOR JOURNALs leave this morning for a five days' trip and will lock horns with some of the best amateur base ball clubs in the country. They will go directly to Mt. Sterling and there play a couple of games; this afternoon and tomorrow morning; thence to Paris, Cynthia, Winchester and probably Lexington. Manager Penny has secured some splendid talent and our namesakes will, we believe, fully maintain their reputation as good ball players as well as being a team composed exclusively of gentlemen. The following players will wear the "I. J." uniform and unless something very strange happens, will return bearing the pennant, both for good ball playing and good behavior, and will meet with a most cordial welcome from the legion who admire the sport in this section: Bowman, Mackin, Rice, Wilson, Morrow, Nelson, Keenan, Embury, Davison, Hann. Some of the above are not Stanford boys but all of them have played with the I. J's and are signers of that club.
